Check out this fun Hocus Pocus Spell Book Of Cake Sheets! It's inspired by The Hocus Pocus Movie! Hey all! Happy start at Halloween Month! Have you started watching the 31 nights of Halloween on Freeform? I have and I can't wait to watch Hocus Pocus non stop all month long! To celebrate my pocus hocus holiday that I planned, I decided to make this fun and easy to make Hocus Pocus Spell Book Sheet Cake! I will enjoy it as I watch this year and I hope you love the idea enough to enjoy it while you watch as well! It's honestly really easy to do and it didn't take me long to do. A max hour for the entire process. I also used articles I had around my cooking, which made it all easier for me to do. There's no need to go further when you're doing your proper treat at home. No one likes to spend a ton of slavery time away from the cookies! I know I do! Just Like Creep It Real Folks! lol! I love making easy recipes and things I already have in my pants. I'm glad I thought of this fun idea I could quickly throw together. Here is how to do it! First you fool your oven to 305 degrees. You then grease and leaves your cake sheet lines, so your cake does not stick to the pan. You then mix and cook your chocolate cake according to the cake mixing cake instructions. Leave the cake completely cool and then ice with your chocolate iced using a spatula offset. You can use store buyers or make your own chocolate pack. Then take white ice and add the smallest drop in her black food coloring. I'm talking like droplets! Mix it until it turns gray. This makes the iced color needed for the book accents. Put your now grey iced in a bag tapping with tip and trophy. Put tipping and couple on your black tube icing. Place White Frosting in a bag tapping with tip and trophy. Place Chocolate Frosting in a bag tapping and tip with trophy. You then tap on the liquid snake and edge decoration. Next you use your white iced in hose on a circle. Put your salt vibrant chocolate green chocolate in the center and hose on the tortoise and icing your nuts. Next tap on some eye cover with your chocolate medication. Next tap on a circle around the eye with your grey ice circle. At the end you use your black icing to hose over the snake eye and stay black. You then place a little black cat at the bottom of the cake. It's my little one with no Thackery Binx and it's kind of like a hidden mickey! I know the book doesn't have a chat about it! I just wanted a little Binx on my cake! That's it! You're done! This cake is super easy to make and it doesn't have to be perfect to always be amazing and beautiful! The baking is what takes the longest. The decorated probably took me 15-20 minutes max to do! Super easy! I'm free but piping all this on. I wanted to only use mostly iced on this cake. The only non-mirror item on this cake is the melt of green candy! Hope you like this fun and easy to make sheet cake just as much as I do! Every time I see it I just want to call BOOOOOK! I can't wait to watch Pocus Hocus on Freeform for the 31 nights at Halloween! Who else is watching? Let me know in the comments below! Also you can play this fun Hocus Pocus Game and enjoy the cake as well! Make sure to make this spooky cake to enjoy as you watch! You can find our Hocus Pocus mom and me Book of Costume here! After years of watching my aunts make some amazing fondant cake, my daughter and I thought we'd give it a try. But instead of shopping bought fondant, we decided to make our own. It was less expensive, delicious, and easy to make. This Hocus Pocus Spelling Book, is the second fondant cake we've ever made. The first was a five-layer Pusheen cake, which took 9 hours to make, because of so many trials and errors. But that conversation is for another post. Continue reading if you are looking for a super easy Halloween cake, this is the one for you. I've made this cake twice over the years and one of the first tips I've offered is: Make sure you make your edible objects a few days before (or buy them) and give yourself enough time to put it together. I've had to rush to make this cake before we Halloween Bash, and I can see all the time flaws – but my guests like I had to put this together in about an hour's time. I seriously would like another half hour to perfect the cauldron walls, listing them out. But it worked. Continue reading this cookie cake was simple and a great hit will all be the guest. Courteous Images of Debbie Morrow. This is the latest installation of the Minecraft Madness series. We went on an easy game to make, our gaming rental, schedules and glitches, food presentations, grace grace, and more. You'll find many different printers on each of the posts in this series. For Part 5, we'll go on the Minecraft cake, decorated ideas and other printing links/ideas that were helpful. Made from a cookie cake recipe, it was tottered with green ice and broken chocolate bar of brick for the eyes, nose/mouth. Since many efforts have put in decorations, yummy, and snacks, it's ended the perfect ending to a surprisingly spread of food. I'm sure most people reading the MC Madness series are either interested in throwing a party or doing something cool for one you love. After looking at a pleasure of pins, images, and more, I can guarantee a self or two swim out to all the possibilities. But below are a few more ideas worth mentioning: Don't forget the toilet batteries out with Minecraft items as well! Image courtie of Debbie Morrow. All rights reserved. Courteast photo of Debbie Morrow. I was always curious about how hard it would make these homemade chocolate. Since I decided to make cauldron cauldron 2 for my upcoming Halloween Bash, I needed some body parts and edible gruesome hanging from the skin. Since heavy Gummi are very sense, I have chosen to try my hand at candy making. They aren't perfect, but sticking out of a cauldron that was enclosed by other edible fears, I think that will work.
